'USI-War Wounded Foundation Joint Essay Competition 2025'

Subject: Courage and Resilience - Personal Journeys of War Wounded Achievers

Concept

1. The essay on the subject should be approached keeping in mind the following:

(a) Since Independence, the Indian armed forces have fought major wars and conducted operations along with ongoing counter-insurgency and anti-terrorism operations. Despite increasing battle casualties, soldiers have never been a burden on the military or society. The stories of war-wounded personnel showcase extraordinary courage and resilience. Many have turned their struggles into sources of inspiration, using their challenges as opportunities for growth both during service and after retirement. Numerous veterans continue to advocate for mental health awareness and create supportive communities for fellow soldiers. These stories demonstrate that war scars, whether visible or invisible, do not define a person's life. The journey of war-wounded achievers reflects human strength, shaped by a deep commitment to the nation.

(b) The experiences of war-wounded soldiers are powerful stories of resilience and courage. We can create platforms for documenting their stories to improve the process of sharing these journeys. Supporting veterans through rehabilitation, mental health resources, skill development, and recognition ensures future personnel continue to uphold the military traditions.
